SUN BEAMS

By WALTER M. BARRETT

Although still a month away, the Truckee Masonic Lodge is formulating plans for the observance of Public School Week here on April 26. The primary object of the week is to interest the public in the schools and their work in developing the citizens of tomorrow. We are all inclined to consider too lightly the schools and the purposes for which they are maintained. Public School Week is a splendid undertaking and the lodge should be given just credit for sponsoring it, but all of us interested in the future welfare of the country, state and community, should make every week public school week and assist in the development of the coming generations.

Last week in reporting the happenings of the holiday week end, we unintentionally failed to mention the two dances sponsored by the Ski Team of the Truckee Outing Club, probably the most important part of the program of entertainment arranged for the 3000 or more visitors. Hours of hard work with no personal compensation were required by the committeemen and while the proceeds from the dances did little more than pay the expenses, the boys provided entertainment for their guests, filling the evening and night hours and making the visit here more enjoyable. The ski team has a right to feel justly proud of their efforts.

Winter, for the most part, it appears, has sped on its way and spring is approaching rapidly. With the approach of the year's most welcome season, the thoughts of the nimrods naturally turn to trout streams and days are being counted until the fisherman can dig out his equipment, dust off his waders and prepare for the annual invasion of the streams. There is no more pleasing anticipation. And yet those more familiar with the situation are just a bit apprehensive. Last year and the year before and the year before that saw an increasing number of fishermen, streams made more accessible and the trout diminishing faster and faster. That is a serious condition. It means that something must be done to replenish the few good streams left to fishermen, like the Truckee, or adopt some sort of conservation plan. It is time some concentrated efforts were put forth. The San Francisco Fly Casting club, in cooperation with the people of Truckee is carrying out a fine program and should do much toward aiding the situation on the Truckee river, but this year more fish will be required, more attention must be given the feeding and cultivating and as a natural sequence, more money will be required. If the Truckee is to maintain its high standard as the best fishing stream in the west, everyone will have to do his part. If we do, the program will be easy, but if there are slackers then we can expect the Truckee to follow the way of many fine streams and in a few years be worthless as a haven for fishermen.

Warm Weather In Mountains Removes Snow

Less Than 2 Feet Left on Ground Here As Spring Nears

Warm, spring-like weather during the past two weeks has done much in reducing the snow pack here and elsewhere in the Sierra.

It is estimated that less than two feet remain on the level here while in many spots on the sunny sides of the slopes, the bare ground is in evidence.

Unless new storms occur, local weather prognosticators declare the snow, with the possible exception of patches in sheltered places, will be gone in another two weeks.

TULELAKE RUSHES TO INCORPORATE TO GAIN BENEFITS

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 4.—(UP)— A 289-mile dash from Yreka to Sacramento was necesary to add the name of Tulelake to the list of incorporated cities in time to benefit from this year's taxes.

MARRIAGES SET NEW ALL-TIME RECORD DURING PAST YEAR

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 4.—(UP)— Heartbeats hit an all-time high in California during 1936, when more couples were married than in any other year since the state decided to require licenses and collect two dollars from each prospective bridegroom.

Dr. Walter M. Dickie, director of the state department of public health, reported a total of 60,197 licenses were issued during the year, exceeding 1935 matrimonial business by 3,643. In fact, Dickie said, the only year which even approached this record was 1926 when 56,664 couples were wed.

Nevada county followed the romantic trend with 78 weddings in 1936 against 65 in 1935.

One-Man Ski Team Performs At Yosemite

The one-man St. Mary's ski team, represented solely by that flash master of the most tricky jumps and slalom courses, Carl Bechdolt, Jr., of the Lake Tahoe Ski Club, took an active part in the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Ski Championships at Yosemite this week and while the Tahoe boy failed to bring home the trophy against such tough competition as the winning Washington Huskies, the University of Nevada and others, he made a good showing, and kept his school on the sports map in skiing.

The previous week end, young Bechdolt captured third place in the Class C jumping contests at Salt Lake, defeating many of the best C class skiiers of the United States.

Walter Mandeville of the Tahoe Club was also a competitor in the Salt Lake meet.

Initial Plans To Provide Sports In 1938 Discussed

Committee Selected to Take Steps to Augment Facilities

A tentative program for promoting winter sports activities for next season will be formulated by a committee named by President C. B. White at this week's meeting of the Truckee Chamber of Commerce. It was pointed out that although the next season is still nearly a year away, plans should be discussed and a program arranged so that the community will be prepared.

Several major improvements have been suggested, including the completion of the ice palace, installation of a ski tow, more adequate jumps and marked trails.

The committee chosen will outline proposals which will be submitted to the chamber of commerce for further consideration. The group is composed of President White, Walter M. Barrett, C. E. Smith, A. P. Leitch and James McIver, Jr.

McIver was also named a committee of one to investigate the possibility of having a large road sign installed near the Tahoe-Truckee Wye, calling the attention of motorists to the fact that they are approaching Truckee.

FIVE CHILDREN EN ROUTE TO WED ARRESTED

Berkeley Youngsters Stopped Here After Elopement Last Week

RETURNED TO HOMES

Third Girl Refuses at Last Minute; Five are Apprehended

A far too youthful romance was nipped in the bud here last Friday when two 13-year old Berkeley high school girls and three youths ranging in age from 15 to 17, were apprehended by officers at the state checking station, turned over to the proper authorities and returned to their homes.

According to Patrolman Arthur Barrick of the state highway patrol, the children admitted they were en route to Reno where the two couples planned to be married before continuing on to Idaho where they planned a honeymoon. The third girl, also 13, refused to accompany the others when they left Berkeley in a car which one of the girls, Evelyn Clover, is said to have taken $40 from her mother to buy for her boy friend Arthur Miller the day before the elopement.

The five youngsters were spotted by Officer Frank Carson of the checking station when they were changing license plates from another car to their own. Questioned by Carson and Officer Kocher, the boys finally admitted their intentions and were placed in custody, later being taken to Nevada City where they were held until returned to their homes.

The five left Berkeley Thursday night. The car stalled and the runaways attempted to sleep the balance of the night. They all wore light clothing and their luggage consisted of a few personal belongings and school books.

A description of the elopers was broadcast over the state teletype system after Mrs. Loffgren reported to the police that her son had gone away to be married. School mates said they had gone to Reno.

Young Loffgren's girl refused to accompany them at the last minute, he said, but he came to act as best man at the ceremonies for his friends

Boost In Tax Rate Revealed In Group Study

School Expenditures Show Big Gains During Two Years

Total taxes levied by the county, schools and special districts of Nevada county were $284,349 in 1936-37, as compared with a low point of $176,340 in 1933-34 it was pointed out in a study of taxes levied by California counties from 1932-33 to 1936-37, recently completed by the California Taxpayers' association. These figures do not include taxes levied by cities, the association said.

Taxes or general county current purposes during the five-year period reached their low of $124,982 in 1933-34 and had gone to $194,549 in 1936-37, the association found. School taxes for current purposes reached their low of $36,233 in 1934-35 and were $53,585 in 1936-37. Special district taxes reached their low of $1390 in 1934-35 and had gone to $2208 in 1936-37. For school bonds the levy was $8551 in 1932-33 and $34,007 in 1936-37.

PROOF OF THE PUDDING

A very good example of what the winter sports mean to Truckee and what can be done with a bit of cooperation was shown here last week when more than 3,000 visitors invaded the area for a two-day vacation frolic.

Business establishments were overtaxed to care for the big crowds, many being forced to lock their doors to permit service to those already on the inside. Those who didn't benefit directly, did so indirectly.

Through a closer woven organization and more cooperation this same condition could be expected almost every week end througout the winter season.

We have the foundation, in the Truckee Outing Club, for the kind of an organization that is required. It was primarily through the efforts of the small group which takes an active lead in the club that the town enjoyed such a prosperous holiday ten days ago. More support, financially and morally, with a spirit of helpfulness and less of a tendency to "crab" would assure Truckee of the bulk of the winter sports activities througout the season. Our natural resources cannot be excelled. The town offers the best in accomodations and local business men are good hosts.

Our facilities for winter sports, however, are not up to the standard the community deserves. We need the ice palace completed. We need a ski tow, more adequate jumps and courses with more skiis, toboggans, skates, etc. Then, with a campaign of boosting, the purpose would be achieved and last week's crowd would become an every week's occurance.

It's just a matter of putting our shoulders to the wheel and pushing together. Without cooperation nothing can be accomplished, here or elsewhere.

SLAM THE DOOR, UNCLE

Now let's get this international relations business straight.

As we understand it, the American people loaned a lot of money to several European nations, and sacrificed thousands of our youth on their battlefields, so that a war could be won to save the world for democracy.

Then for a while things were peaceful, and it seemed that they wouldn't need American help any more, so they decided not to bother about paying back their debts.

About that time the greed they wrote into the Versailles treaty began to bear fruit, dictators began to sprout, democracy was all but pushed off their continent, nations began arming furiously, and it began to look as though they'd have another war.

So Britain just recently sent over a bigwig named Runciman to talk it all over calmly and explain how there had been some mistake, and how there was really no need for the Johnson Act banning American loans to foreign debtors in default. France sent a new ambassador, George Bonnet, across the water to second the motion, in a nice way of course.

Oh yes, and another thing, Uncle Samuel. Do you suppose it would be possible to float a loan in your coutry for poor, starving Germany, whose people cannot eat their tanks and machine guns and will surely stir up trouble if we don't do something about it?

If you hear a noise it will be a door slamming in someone's face.

. . . AND SUDDEN DEATH

A casting cracks, a platform lurches, then tears loose — and ten workers plunge from the Golden Gate bridge to death in the swirling waters 250 feet below.

A transport plane comes into San Francisco airport preparing to land, circles out over the bay, then suddenly loses altitude and strikes the water with a muffled roar, killing eleven.

A shell is loaded into a big gun on a battleship off the coast of San Pedro, and the men prepare to close the breech —a violent explosion blows six sailors into eternity and seriously injures several more.

Thus three major tragedies strike California within a period of ten days, all of them on water, all with violent sudden ness, all apparently without definite traceable cause.

Was human imperfection at fault in any of these? Perhaps. Thorough investigations are seeking to find out, so that chances of such catastrophes in the future will be lessened. But even if blame is placed, it will not bring back the lost, or be a consolation for the families and friends of those who were killed.

It has been as though destiny marked 27 persons for death in California within ten tragic days, through a succession of accidents curiously linked by the dominant role of sea waters in each.

The whims of fate are sometimes strange and appalling.

Politically Speaking

By GEORGE E. HELMER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 4.—(UP)—Members of the board of equalization are convinced, more than ever, that so long as they administer liquor control they never will be able to settle back to a prolonged period of rest free from worry.

"If it isn't one thing, it's six," they muttered when San Francisco police threw the bay metropolis wide open to drinking between the hours of 2 and 6 a. m. and announced that they would make no effort to enforce the board's ruling that no liquor be sold or served during that four-hour period.

This left the board with the alternative of continuing to attempt enforcement of the 1913 statute, with the idea that section 397c of the penal code was not repealed when he Write act was discarded, or to declare a moratorium on the closing law until the legislature acts upon various bills which would establish definitely, a closing period.

In the face of the general statewide threat to disregard the 2 a.m. closing law, the board, through its chairman, Richard E. Collins, announced it would make no exception to the rule; would continue enforcing it and would revoke the licenses of any establishment violating it.

How this could be accomplished if all police departments assumed the same attitude as the San Francisco force remained unexplained.

The board depends upon local police to enforce the liquor laws. Some 400 board employes are liquor control officers who inspect establishments, pass upon license applications and cooperate with police in attempting to enforce regulations, but 400 could not hope to handle all enforcement duties, board officials admitted.

The wildest situation since repeal might develop if all liquor establishments should disregard the closing rule and police hold it was none of their affair and the board persist in its desire to lock up the drinking spots from 2 to 6 a. m. Licenses would be revoked, suits filed and liquor enforcement generally thrown into even more of a turmoil than it has been during past reorganizations and changes of sentiment and rules, observers believed.

The latest threat of upheaval started in San Francisco when the city attorney, basing his decision on a verdict of Municipal Judge Tom Foley, held that the 2 a. m. closing law was invalid because the Wright act had been repealed.

The board disagreed; insisted a law could not be repealed by implication, and that the 2 a. m. closing law was outlined in section 397c of the penal code — a section that had not been removed from the statutes.

As a result of the San Francisco action, the board found itself "in another jam", hardly justified in stepping down from the previous rulings just because a municipal judge and a city attorney held that the board was wrong, while the attorney general argued that the board was right in adopting rules anr regulations for enforcement of the liquor control act.

If the board can justify its stand in no other way, it can point to a ruling adopted January 7, 1936, requiring 2 a. m. closing from the standpoint of public welfare and morals. It might revoke licenses on the ground that sale of liquor after 2 a. m. is "contrary to public welfare and morals" and trust that judges would be friendly enough to uphold the board in suits which would in-

WIND REPLACING SMUDGE POTS IN FIGHT ON FROST

ARBUCKLE, Mar. 4.— (UP) — Smudge pots are giving way to wind machines as a means of preventing frost damage in the almond orchards of this section.

BRIGHTER PROSPECTS FOR WORKING MAN SEEN IN REPORTS

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 4.—(UP)—California's working public completed the first month of 1937 with a labor outlook considerably brighter than that of last year.

Substantial gains in factory employment, payrolls and average weekly salaries, plus similar gains in the utilities field featured the improvement, Timothy A. Reardon, director of the department of industrial relations, reported to the governor's council.

Also indicating better conditions for the working man, Reardon reported appreciable decreases in the number of complaints of labor law violations and in criminal prosecutions for such infractions. Collection of wage claims decreased proportionately.

Although utilities employment, payrolls and average weekly salaries fell of from December figures, Reardon's report showed an 11 per cent employment increase for January, 1937, as compared with the same month last year. Payrolls moved up 14.5 per cent and average weekly earnings showed a gain of 3.2 per cent.

Factory employment gained 9.3 per cent, weekly payrolls 18.5 per cent and average weekly earnings 8.4 per cent, on the basis of reports from 1,642 representative manufacturing establishments.

There were only 1,929 labor complaints in January, 1937, against 2,338 in the same month last year. The division started 63 criminal prosecutions last month, eight fewer than in January 1936.

NORDEN NEWS

(By C. W. KRAMER)

Mr. Harry Sylvester with his wife and a friend spent the day in Norden and vicinity early this week.

During the past month all records have been broken for tourists that have invaded the snow fields of the Sierra. All clubs and lodges have been filled, all available space taken while it has been conservatively estimated 5,000 people have been in and around Norden enjoying their favorite sport. Six feet of well-packed snow is still on the ground with many available hill slopes unmarred as yet and await more snow enthusiasts who may be so inclined.

Mrs. Nolan Marion of Norden is spending a week in the valley.

Mrs. A. C. Rowe and two sons of Sacramento were in Norden over the week end and Kenneth Lyons of Norden spent several days in Sacramento last week and while there renewed old acquaintances among friends.

Mrs. W. G. Flickinger and two children, Beatrice and James, spent the week end at their home in Norden.

Mrs. Hugh Montgomery and son, Thomas of Reno, accompanied by Mrs. Robert McKay of Truckee were visitors in Norden last Sunday.

Mrs. Charles Vanderford who has been confined to her bed with a cold is reported as much improved.

Mrs. C. W. Kramer with her two children, Virginia and Billy, of Sacramento, were in Norden several days last week.

Good Lighting starts with Proper Lamp Design

Here is the 1— 2— 3— of a Better Lamp for Better Light

1— Higher standard than the ordinary lamp. 19½ inches from table top to bottom of shade.

2— What a difference under the shade! The diffusing bowl which eliminates both reflected and direct glare to give light that is soft and glareless.

3— The shade open at the top and wide at the bottom is the third reason why this revolutionary lamp gives six to ten times as much light as an ordinary lamp.

SEE that the lamps you buy for your home are designed to give you abundant light from proper height and distance so that it is easy for your eyes to see quickly and to read without effort.

Note the distinctive features of the Science of Seeing Study Lamp pictured above. They are the tall standard, the diffusing bowl and the special shade wide at the bottom to give much more useful light than ordinary lamps.

There should be at least one of these new lamps in every home. It helps good eyes to keep good eyesight and aids weakened eyes to see more easily.

This Week At The State Capitol

By Jack Welter
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 4.—(UP)—Prospects for new insurance, liquor and pure milk legislation emerged today from a week's activities as state capitol attaches cleared the decks for resumption of California's 52nd legislative session.

With the Donihue assembly committee at least temporarily finished with its inquiry into affairs of the multi-million dollar Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company, the state board of equalization moved to the center of the stage in a new flareup of the 2 a. m. liquor closing controversy.

It was from the Donihue investigators that observers expected recommendations for insurance law reforms After day-long questioning of E. Forrest Mitchell, former state insurance commissioner, Committee Chairman Leon M. Donihue, Oakland, announced the hearing would be suspended indefinitely. Although there was a growing impression that the recess actually means the inquiry is ended, it seemed certain the committee would recommend to the legislature:

Passage of a bill requiring companies writing more than one type of policy to establish separate reserves for each type.

Enlargement of the insurance division's staff of examiners, and more frequent examination of insurance concerns.

Expansion of the division's authority to permit removal of company officers held guilty of "irregular practices."

The separate reserves regulation it appeared, would be a direct outgrowth of testimony in the Pacific Mutual hearings, indicating much of the company's difficulties resulted from paying off non-cancellable disability policies from life policy reserves.

Enactment of a specific 2 a. m. liquor closing law by the legislature appeared a sure bet as a result of the board of equalization's fight with the city of San Francisco, where law enforcement officers refused to enforce the ruling.

Commenting on the increase of arrests for drunkenness in San Francisco, and warning that closing law infractions would bring license revocation, Board Chairman Richard E. Collin said such "debauches will not be tolerated." Enforcement of the closing law will proceed, "regardless of the attitude of San Francisco or any other part of the state."

State-wide standardization of pure milk regulations and measures for bovine tuberculosis control may result from the findings of Assemblyman S. L. Heisinger, Fresno, and his investigating committee. The inquiry established, Heisinger said, that California is the "nation's black spot" in the drive to eliminate bovine tuberculosis.

From A. A. Brock, director of the state department of agriculture, the committee heard the opinion that a unified, state-wide program "would afford the greatest benefit to all citizens."

Although committeemen expect to present definite recommendations along this line to the legislature, Heisinger anticipated opposition from local health officers who "apparently resent any attempts to change laws which might deprive them of jurisdiction."

Action of the state board of control in agreeing to reimburse the treasury $10,059 to meet losses suffered through defalcations of former Cashier William B. Shearer did more than balance the treasury books. It assured State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson return of $5,300 he advanced from his personal funds to help cover the shortage discovered about a year ago. Shearer, who pleaded guilty to embezzlement, is in Folsom Prison.

There are many elements involved in tracking down illicit liquor operators, as the board of control learned. One claim considered by the board came from a citizen who asked damages for injury to a lawn caused by liquor control officers as they watched an illicit still.

Contending that only 11 of the state's 58 counties will benefit while the remainder will suffer, San Francisco supervisors vigorously opposed revisions in the relief set-up approved in a majority report of the California Supervisors' Association. The proposal would make counties responsible for both employables and unemployables up to eight cents valuation of the tax dollar, with the state participating dollar for dollar from that point to a 27 cent maximum, then assuming the entire burden beyond that point. San Francisco tax levies would increase seven cents while Los Angeles assessments would decline six cents, opponents argued.

Registrar of Motor Vehicles Howard Deems had another March headache to add to citizens' income tax returns.

On and after March 1, he warned, automobiles bearing 1936 licenses will be halted by highway patrolmen and drivers cited unless they can offer evidence of having applied for new plates. Out of state drivers will be required to show 1937 nonresident permits, also, he said.

Mrs. Frank Rector, accompanied by her son, Donald, were capital city visitors this week.

Mr. N. C. Warner of Sacramento was the house guest of Peter Skulich of Norden last Sunday.

John Backarich of Norden has about completed his home study course in the art of skiing and is seen about Norden's steep slopes mastering his vocation so that he can become an instructor among the novices that arrive in Norden.

Sam Snyder of Sacramento accompanied by his family were at their home "Gilfelhaus" over the recent holidays.

Mrs. Clarence Libby has returned to her home in Norden after a week in Sacramento visiting among friends and relatives.

The Golden Rule

THE Golden Rule, so often quoted as a guide to right conduct, is stated in Matthew's account of Jesus' Sermon on the Mount in these words (7:12): "Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them: for this is the law and the prophets." Jesus' reference to "the law and the prophets" shows clearly that he recognized the origin of this rule as a part of the Mosaic law and the teachings of the prophets.

In the twenty-second chapter of Matthew's Gospel is given the account of a lawyer who tried to entrap Jesus with the question, "Master, which is the great commandment in the law?" Quoting from the ancient writings with which he was so familiar, Jesus said, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind," following this with the declaration: "This is the first and great commandment. And the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself."

Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, frequently refers to the Golden Rule, and sums up the right attitude in these words from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 518): "The rich in spirit help the poor in one grand brotherhood, all having the same Principle, or Father; and blessed is that man who seeth his brother's need and supplieth it, seeking his own in another's good."

Not always does it seem easy to obey the Golden Rule, for mortal mind may argue that it is useless for one to go out of his way to serve his neighbor. Yielding to selfishness, or the false sense of self, one may argue thus: "I have not the time to do this or that for my neighbor," or, "I cannot afford to do it," or, "It is none of my business, anyway." Whatever the false argument put forth, it should be met by a prompt denial, knowing that one can do whatsoever love leads one to do for others.

"But I have no opportunities to serve my neighbor," says one whose environment seems cramped and limited. Let such a one look about him with a seeing eye and he will find many helpful things he can do. Beginning early in the day he can give a cheerful greeting to those who prepare the morning meal; and a kindly word of encouragement to members of the family before he leaves in the morning will help wonderfully to make their day's duties lighter. On the way to the office or shop he may perhaps express many a courtesy toward fellow commuters. Then again, a little assistance may show a new employee how to do his work more easily and skillfully. And so on throughout the day there will be found many opportunities to serve his neighbor.

The happy results of applying the Golden Rule in everyday affairs is illustrated in the following incident recently related to the writer. Circumstances had made it impossible for a family to keep up their payments for the purchase of a small dwelling. It was therefore arranged that they should remain in the place for a time, with the understanding that they were to cause no extra legal expenses when the time came to vacate the property. The family were to leave the place in mid-summer; so it seemed almost useless for them to put in a garden, or to plant flowers and shrubs. . . . Discussing the matter among themselves, they reached the decision not only to put in a garden, but to plant flowers and shrubs to make the place as attractive and beautiful as they could, thus helping the owner to dispose of the property. Much real joy was expressed by the members of the family in the beauty and order which prevailed as a result of their decision.

When the appointed time approached, the holder of the contract called upon the family to get their signatures to the necessary papers which he had prepared. When he saw the loving care which had been bestowed upon the yard and garden, he was so impressed with the unselfishness manifested that, instead of having the papers signed which he had brought with him, he made out others setting forth an agreement whereby the family retained their little dwelling on terms which were satisfactory to all. Thus, in lovingly applying the Golden Rule they found themselves greatly blessed beyond measure. . . .

As we let God, good, govern our every thought, we shall no longer think it a burden to serve our fellow men, but shall find such joy in so doing that we shall welcome every opportunity to practise the Golden Rule.—The Christian Science Monitor.

LICENSE DIVISION HAS BUSY MONTH WITH LATE RUSH

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 4.—(UP)—Because of the unprecedented rush to beat the deadline for registering motor vehicles, nearly another month may elapse before the total state automobile registrations will be known, Howard Deems, registrar of the motor vehicle department reported.

Although 60 clerks have been engaged in opening mail postmarked prior to February 5, there still remain thousands of letters to be opened, Deems said. The registration period expired February 4.

Deems estimated the state had saved approximately $32,000 in postage through operation of branch offices in county seats during the registration period as more than 400,000 license plates were delivered over the counter at such establishments instead of being mailed from the Sacramento headquarters.

UPSWING OF CRIME IN STATE NOTED IN CHIEF'S REPORT

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 4.—(UP)—A sharp upswing in crime in California during January, 1937, over the same month a year ago is revealed in the monthly report of the state division of criminal identification and investigation.

With the sole exception of burglary, increases were noted in each crime classification by Clarence S. Morrill, chief of the division. Petty crime — purse snatching and pocket picking — particularly became more profuse.

There were nine cases of assault to murder last month, against seven in 1936. Burglaries decreased from 2143 to 2012, but fictitious check writers and forgers operated more extensively with 423 case investigated against 291 in the same month last year.

evitably follow.

Ever time the board seeks to rid itself of the "rum board" appelation, some new development arises to disrupt the peace of a group that once had nothing more to worry about than the equalization oftaxes.

Months ago, during another liquor controversy, board members said they would be glad to be rid of the liquor administration problem. An initiative measure which would have created a separate board failed to win the electorate's approval because "jokers" were discovered.

Th legislature may do something about the situation this year. Several bills designed to set up a separate liquor commission have been introduced and if one measure can be ironed out sufficiently to place it in the category of "honest legislation, unhampered by politics and special interests" it may bring about a change — at least to the extent of transferring grief from one commission to another.

SECOND BUILDING FOR STATE OFFICES TO BE OPEN SOON

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 4.—(UP)—The second of two new office buildings added to the state government's array of structures here will be reay for occupancy about May 1, according to Earl Lee Kelly, director of public works.

The building will house the department of public works. Completion of the structure was originally set for January, but shortage of materials caused by the maritime strike and inclement weather delayed the work.

Because automobile registration period necessitated larger quarters, construction work was rushed on the motor vehicle building, enabling that department to move in last December.

DECISION MAY NOT CHANGE NEVADA LAW

CARSON CITY, Mar. 4.—Attorney General Gray Mashburn yesterday declined to express a formal opinion on the possible effect of decision of the United States Supreme Court on the automobile caravan tax law of California.

Mashburn said he had not seen the decisios and it is his custom to withhold any opinion until he studies a decision.

It may be, he said, that the Nevada caravan statute will not be affected by the supreme court's decision, as the Nevada law is a license and not a tax measure.

It is patterned more after the New Mexico statute.

Offhand, however, he indicates his belief the decision will have no effect on Nevada's license law on caravans.

QUINCY RESIDENTS FIND OLD ADAGE HAS SOME TRUTH

QUINCY, Mar. 4.—(UP)—There's something to the adage, "all that glitters is not gold," in the opinion of many Quincy residents.

Attracted by shiney particles in the snow banks lining Main street, scores of citizens blocked traffic while they scooped up "nuggets."

An assay proved the "gold" chunks were pieces of broken brass from machinery used in repairing sidewalk earlier this week.
